DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 2-5, 28, 29, 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 2, and 5, the language "the insulating layer ring" lacks proper antecedent support.

Claim 28, "the inside or the outside pipe" should be "the inner or the outer pipe" as previously defined.

Claim 29, "the centralizer" lacks proper antecedent basis.

Claim 32, "the selected fraction" also lacks proper antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hawkins (US 5,908,072).

Art Unit: 3672

Hawkins discloses a non-metallic centralizer shown specifically in Fig. 1, which basically comprises all of the claimed structure, including a body 20 radially extending from the inside pipe 12, and having a beveled top surface 22. Hawkins differs from the claimed invention in that such centralizers are to be placed inside a wellbore for cementing purpose. It would have been a matter of obvious engineering decision to use Hawkins centralizer in a cased hole for a purpose of creating concentric tubular string, since such practice is common in producing well completion involving tubing string in a cased hole. The intended use of the beveled top surface to direct materials in the annulus toward the inside or outside pipe is anticipated as such would have been a natural physical phenomena. The claimed electrically insulating centralizer is also anticipated as the known centralizer is made of non-metallic material, such as plastic.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 6-27, 30, 31 are allowed.

Claims 2-5, 29, 32 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Lnagner et al, and Stokka all show well centralizing/insulating apparatus.
